Synopsis

Why do some 70% of software development projects fail? Why do many developers spend much of their time ""reinventing the wheel""? Is it possible to focus on what an application is supposed to do, instead of the minutiae of how to make it work? These questions and more are the focus of Fusebox 5: Master-Class ColdFusion Applications. With complete information on the Fusebox 5 standard and the Fusebox Lifecycle Process (FLiP), there is information for every role involved in web development. Check out the details of how the Fusebox 5 core works, or follow the development of a sample application from start to finish. You set the pace, you choose the path. Build master-class applications.
